

The Corpus Callosum

The corpus callosum is responsible for the connection between the two hemispheres of the brain. It allows one to use both the right and left side of your brain.

It's best to have this part of the brain in order to play musical instruments.